

Entara specializes in designing and managing programs to improve performance and build capacity of courts and related justice community agencies. Our aim is to help them be more effective, efficient, and respected. We work with people who are directly involved in setting policy, performing day-to-day activities, and administering revenue, expense, and capital expenditure budgets. Our areas of expertise are in the areas of information technology, organization design, and financial planning and control.

Challenge	Solution	Benefits
Increased demand for judicial services and shrinking budgets are causing judges and court administrators to re-think how courts work	We design and manage technology-based improvement programs. These programs are governed by the specific circumstances of the courts as well as the need for appreciative collaboration among justices, judges, clerks of court, attorneys, funding authorities, support organizations, other stake-holders, and the community they serve. We are especially mindful of the adoption and adaption of new technology by trial court judges and clerks of court	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Improved Performance – Design efficient work processes and data sharing</li> <li>• Increased Capacity – Improved work processes and data sharing allow your organization to change and grow to meet future demand without increasing resources</li> <li>• Elevated stature in the community</li> <li>• Better interactions among the courts and the communities they serve</li> </ul>

We are pleased to have worked for and with some of the leading judicial organizations in the United States including the judicial branches of the States of Connecticut, Indiana, Ohio, and New York and local courts and related agencies including City of Indianapolis / Marion County, Indiana, Atlanta, Georgia, Los Angeles, California and others. Too, we have been called upon to provide special services by the National Center for State Courts and leading technology and architectural and engineering firms.

The firm and our client service teams are lead by senior managers and court administrators who have many years of experience leading successful judicial improvement programs. Our thought leaders include trial court judges and state court administrators.

Our client service teams include people with expertise in program and project management, capital project planning and control, business analysis, IT architecture and standards, internet / intranet networking and call center management, homeland security, data and data center management, functional requirements definition, the development and evaluation of RFP's, gap analysis, vendor selection, contract negotiation, Public Value/ROI analysis, and organization design.

For more information, please email sales@entarams.com.